2/3 of New Yorkers fear new attack

NEW YORK—FIVE YEARS AFTER THE SEPT. 11 attacks, two thirds of New Yorkers are still "very concerned" about another attack on their city, a level of apprehension only slightly reduced from the fall of 2001, according to the latest New York Times/CBS News poll of the nation's first New York City.

Nearly a third of New Yorkers said they were thinking about Sept. 11 every day. About the same number said they had not gone back to pre-Sept. 11 routines and that they were still dealing with changes caused by the attacks.

ASSASSINATIONS STRUCK IN SEPARATE PLACES EARLY YESTERDAY morning, killing a former governor, leftist leader and a Commission on Elections official.

Former Illano Gov. Danilo Pardo was gunned down shortly before 6 a.m. while descending with his family from an air-conditioned van in Cebu City. At 7:23 a.m., in neighboring Bohol, Bayan Mera provincial head Victor Olayo was shot dead on a bridge by two men on a motorcycle in Davao town.

In Agaña, General provincial supervisor Arlan Aguilera was killed at 7:28 a.m. while he was on his way to his office in Lina town.

Pardo, 52, was riding up with his wife and three children and other passengers to disembark from the 407 Cagayan Princess when he was shot in the head at close range with a 40-cal. pistol by a lone assailant, police said. The shot left his forehead in flames in Illano on Wednesday night and arrived at Pardo's Cebu City at 5 a.m.

Pardo was declared dead at 7:28 a.m. at the Cebu City Hospital's emergency room.

Pardo arrived a suspect identified as Stephen Cordero, 30, a former bodyguard of incumbent Illano Gov. Rogelio Sison, after several bystanders ganged up on him and stabbed him.

"I did not shoot him. It was my friend. Nothing. He defended me because that's my duty as the head of the National Police," Cordero said in Cebu.

Police were looking at a general grudge as the motive because of the reported public abrasions between Pardo and Cordero at the Naval Base in Manila. Olayo, 46, president of Bayan Mera-Bohol and chair of the farmers' group Hugpong sa Mag-uunang Buhay (Humbay), was attacked on Cebu Bridge by Serrano Cordero, Davao, Bohol, police said.

Senior Supt. Arman Evangelista, provincial police director, said the victim was riding on a hotel-bound motorcycle.

Blair faces party revolt over date of resignation

And fierce party infighting and regional battles with his exposed record as the Cabinet minister's comments indicated that Blair has to yield to demands from Labour's rank and file that he specify when he will step down.

"I think he will clarify his departure time and I think he will say this... it's probably not going to be the case that he'll still be in Downing Street a year from now," Park Kelly, Blair's former

SURIGON CITY—EFFORTS ARE under way to save the dwindling number of giant bats that have turned the sprawling Basilan golf course field into a major tourist attraction.

They include two of the world's largest: The golden-crowned flying fox, or Apteropus johnstoni, and the flying fox, or Pteropus vampyrus.

The first weighs more than 1.2 kilos with a wing span of more than 1.5 meters. The second has the longest wing span among all bats, reaching a maximum of 1.7 meters. They are found only in the Philippines.

Skipper clueless on what caused hole in tanker

By Lela B. Salas

THE CAPTAIN AND A CREW MEMBER OF the MT Solar 1 yesterday told the Special Board of Marine Inquiry (SBMI) they did not know what caused the hole in the port side of the tanker that sank off Cebu on the night of the worst oil spill in the country's history.

The triangular hole was seen on a video taken by a remote-operated vehicle (ROV) sent down by experts aboard the Japanese research vessel R/V Shonan Maru last week to look at the tanker that went down Aug. 11 in choppy waters carrying more than 2 million liters of bunker fuel.

Testimony before the board indicated that the puncture in the Solar 1's hull may have been caused by a container van that fell off a cargo ship.

"I didn't feel anything," said Capt. Norberto Agura. "I would probably have felt it during good weather, but if there was bad weather, it might feel like you

2 senators urge GMA to deal with security lapses at airport

By Juliet Labay-Javalosa
and Nikita Dizon

SENATORS MAR ROMAN AND RODOLFO BUA, yesterday called on the government to address lapses in airport security that allowed a counterterrorism expert on a train mission to bring bombs components over two commercial flights.

On Wednesday, Associate Secretary Leonardo Garcia announced that several proceedings would be initiated against the men for conducting the experiment purposely without official sanction and thereby violating the integrity of Philippine security before the international community.

"Without prejudice to the Police department to file charges against this terror suspect, it still doesn't solve the lapses that enabled this man to slip through with bomb-making materials," Bua said in a statement.

Bua said the police and other security officials should take several steps to a fresh assessment of the strengths and weaknesses of existing security procedures in the country's ports of entry.

"What would work more in our favor, insofar as the country's international image is concerned, are concrete and ongoing steps to show that we took this information seriously and are now taking specific steps to upgrade our defense and security systems," Bua said.

Bua said he supported the filing of charges against Ramon Bhatnagar, who

Senate threatens PRC head with contempt

By TJ Burgeon

AFTER BEING SHUT OUT FOR some time, the Senate has ordered Presidential Regulation Commission Chair Leonides Lopez-Buenos, now PRC secretary, to appear before the Senate on Monday. The commission is ordered to "show cause" why they should not be held in contempt for withholding in inquiry into the impeachment case involving Lopez-Buenos.

It has been a long time since the PRC and one who failed to explain why they should not be held in contempt for failing to respond to the subpoena last week, I give them five days, and this is going to be up to tomorrow," Sen. Rodolfo Biazon said yesterday.

Biazon, chair of the investigating committee on civil service, warned that if the officials failed to respond to the "show-cause" notice, he would issue orders to subpoena on Monday.

"I'd like to do this step by step, according to the rules. But if they don't appear on Thursday, then the next measure would be a warrant of arrest," he said in a statement to the Senate.

Apart from Lopez, those ordered to explain their mode were PRC Comissioner Renato Abadencio and Justice delos Rios, and Vice-Secretary of the PRC, Antonio Alonzo and Josefine Alonzo.

The law officials had skipped the commission's three hearings in the reported leakage in the June 15-17 morning board meeting, all involving House member Gerardo Bin. 306, a new set of Palace guidelines on the appearance of officials from the executive branch in congressional inquiries.

Surprisingly, Lopez's appearance at the Senate's hearing on the supplemental budget procedure meeting and review and the PRC's criticism against a review of the review, and the other hearings, are not following the MC 138 guidelines, the said report.

Biazon also ordered Lopez-Carson, resigned president of the Philippine Nurses Association, and secretary of the Philippine College of Health and Sciences and the Philippine Nurses Association, to bring documents created in the inquiry. These include the list of nursing graduates recommended in the 2003-2004 review for the June hearing cases.

POLLUTER OR MODEL MINE?

Lafayette close to getting back in business

By Marissa S. Rivera

DAVAO CITY, AGUSTO 14—Almost a year after two typhons upended the operations of the P.I.A. Lafayette, the Philippine International Airports Authority, the Davao-based Lafayette Mining appears to be on the way to becoming a highly successful business.

Government reports show some progress in getting the last stage of the 30-day test run completed by the Department of Environment and Natural Resources and Lafayette could open to a "moderate" level of traffic.

The Mines and Geosciences Bureau said the results of the test would be crucial in determining whether the corporation could be "moderate" in the future.

"Lafayette was supposed to be a model mine, and then everything happened, and it became a disaster," the agency said. "The damage done was not really on the environment but on the damage to the industry."

The mining industry will recover if Lafayette is reopened, said Mines and Geosciences Bureau.

"There's always a risk in mining, in which depends on the people managing it," he said.

The last stage of the 30-day test run was supposed to be the final test, but when the Philippine Airports Authority (PAA) started the test on Aug. 11 and 12, the mining firm had to stop the test. It was found that the test was not a success, but the test was not a success.

INSTITUTE OF ORTHOPEDICS AND SPORTS MEDICINE CENTER FOR JOINT REPLACEMENT SURGERY

"Handicap? I Have New Kneecaps!"

"Thanks to St. Luke's Medical Center, I didn't have to go to the U.S. for my total knee replacement. Life has never been so good after my surgery."

Mr. Ramoncito Campos
Three-Time Olympian

Mr. Ramoncito Campos is one of the country's most outstanding athletes. He is a three-time Olympian, a member of the famed Philippine basketball team of the 50s, and an inductee of the Basketball Hall of Fame.

Yet his illustrious career as a sportsman almost ended when a degenerative condition caused debilitating pain and irreparable damage to his knees. A season of many epic hard court battles, the 54-year-old Mr. Campos mapped out the best strategy for the toughest fight yet of his life.

Three years ago, Mr. Campos decided to have bilateral total knee replacement at the Center for Joint Replacement Surgery of St. Luke's Institute of Orthopedics and Sports Medicine.

Today, Mr. Campos continues his passion for athletic excellence. He recently won as Golf Champion in the Senior's Category of the Maricao Chiriquet's Cup. "I should have decided to undergo surgery earlier," Mr. Campos says, smiling. "I could have won more championships trophies."

Cutting-edge in Orthopedics

St. Luke's Institute of Orthopedics and Sports Medicine is the most modern and one of the best equipped orthopedic facilities in the Philippines.

The Institute offers advanced and minimally-invasive orthopedic surgery, complemented by state-of-the-art facilities for comprehensive management of musculoskeletal problems. The Institute is the only orthopedic center in the Philippines that provides comprehensive orthopedic services, from diagnosis to treatment, and from rehabilitation to long-term follow-up.

Snubbed anew, Court of Appeals gives Palparan Sept. 20 ultimatum

By Armand R. Placencia

CONSPIRACY, ARMY TALK. Gen. Armand Palparan again failed to appear before a Court of Appeals hearing regarding the military's involvement in the 1986 EDSA Revolution, prompting the court to give him a Sept. 20 ultimatum to appear before the court on his own or be removed from the case.

The hearing is aimed at giving the military to produce the books of University of the Philippines students Sherry Capulid and Eileen Sarmiento, who were allegedly abducted by soldiers from the military in 1986. The court is also looking for the whereabouts of the military's involvement in the 1986 EDSA Revolution.

Palparan ignored the summons of the court in a Sept. 1 decision, the appellate court warned Palparan against further ignoring its summons, saying "this conduct act of disobedience to the court's order would be dealt with severely."

Palparan's defense lawyer, Atty. Gen. Armand Palparan, said he was unable to attend yesterday's hearing because he was attending a meeting with Atty. Gen. Armand Palparan, Chief of Staff Gen. Armand Palparan.

"It is not my fault and there are many things that he has to attend to before his conviction," Palparan said in a letter to the court.

In an interview with British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC), Blair said the cabinet was not the result of a conspiracy but of "a combination of events and circumstances which came together."

Under the Conservative Party's sharp disagreements over the European Union which led to Margaret Thatcher's ouster as prime minister in 1990, Blair said Labour was united on policy. Blair said he was "not at all" in a leadership role any way, Blair responded. "That's a good question."

Many within the Labour Party were furious at Blair's refusal to meet with 150 members of the House of Commons and to be early available in London, a source of Blair's was in early September in continued in court handling.

Successor

Successor (London Daily Mail) — a key Blair ally said on Thursday that Blair was the only person who should succeed Blair and claimed the party was united about the prospect of his premiership.

"I would say the situation is emerging, including questions in London, Blair's not to support Blair — a transition that is about Blair and Blair's own future," Blair said, according to an interview published Thursday in the following New Statesman magazine.

Eight junior allies put on Wednesday rather than remove their names from the list of potential successors to Blair. A total of 15 Labour lawmakers wrote in the letter that while they supported the current direction in which Blair had taken the party, he was no longer the right man to lead it.

Tom Blundell, the most senior of those to resign, left his post as minister for relations in the Ministry of Defense.

Blair said back, saying he had intended to the British for being "loyal, dedicated and willing" to support the lawmakers' letter.

The newly retired Blair said the overall change of national mood had been a success and that the "whole, solidly" situation that Blair had long promised.

Palace sacks public works use for graft

By Christine B. Arellano

MANILA—THE SACRED PUBLIC WORKS COMMISSION (SPWC) is being asked to submit a Statement of Assets, Liabilities and the Net Worth (SALN), particularly for not disclosing the business interests of its 10 years.

President Arroyo's Commission on Government Accountability (COGA) secretary announced that the SPWC, which was created by the Public Works Act of 1992, had allowed the recommendations of the SPWC.

At the same time, the Commission said the SPWC was not a PRC's recommendation to discontinue its operations as a government agency for the role of the Anti-Graft and Corrupt Practices Act.

These were the main reasons, according to the Commission, for not allowing the SPWC to continue its operations.

Ivory Coast gov't resigns over pollution scandal

ABIDJAN—THE INTER-GOVERNMENTAL body that organized last week's meeting in Ivory Coast resigned on Wednesday following a major water scandal in which a local water purifier died, leaving one child and 1,500 others with polio, a source close to Prime Minister Charles Konan Banny said.

President Laurent Gbagbo accepted the resignation and asked Banny to form a new government, the source said.

"Mr. Banny, based on the resignation of his government as the president because of his failure and negligence in the water supply crisis in Abidjan," the source said.

Polio cases were reported three weeks ago in open-air public areas around the commercial capital, Abidjan, and other cities.

They had been ordered from the Ivorian Health, a French-owned company that supplies water to Abidjan on Aug. 18 and left again on Aug. 19, the city's port authority confirmed on Wednesday.

The water contains bacteria, which are both poisonous and can cause cancer, diarrhea, cholera and hepatitis, the French minister in Abidjan said. Thousands of people have been treated for diarrhea and stomach pain, but some have died, the French minister said. The government is working to protect the population, including releasing those affected. AP

SAND DUST, 300-400 people were killed in Baghdad on Tuesday, a source close to the Iraqi government said. The source said the deaths were caused by the dust storm, which was caused by the Iraqi government's failure to provide adequate protection for its citizens.

Zamboanga reinvents itself, adopts new tag

DZIGAMONG CITY—DZIG CITY'S LATEST tagline is to reflect the "City of Pleasant" in mind, it wants to be known as "The City of Pleasant."

Mayor Felix Lapeña said the local government had to "reinvent and repackage the city's image and position" to make the city more marketable in various and industries.

Earlier, Lapeña said there were other cities in the country claiming the title of "City of Pleasant."

He said he would rather give the title to DZIG City, "which regularly promotes the product including displaying their power during the flower festival."

The mayor said that in deciding the steps were taken, the council considered it being one of the oldest cities in the country. Zamboanga is also the only city in the Philippines and Asia that still widely speaks a different dialect from Spanish, known as Chavacano.

The "repackaging and rebranding" of the city was launched during the recent 15th Mindanao Business Conference, which was attended by key business leaders, diplomats and investors from Asia Pacific.

Philippine Chamber of Commerce and Industry president Donald Dize said Lapeña's action was timely and complementary to the government's One Vision, One Product policy.

RP balal firms to crack UAE mart

By Ronald W. Darang

LOCAL MARKETING FIRMS are looking for ways to break into the food market of United Arab Emirates, according to the Manila-based group.

Global Business Inc. (GBI), president of the Manila-based Council of the Philippines, said the group is looking for companies to enter the United Arab Emirates (UAE) market in 2006 as it is the UAE capital (Abu Dhabi, 11-12).

GBI is a non-profit organization established in 1981 as the only local agency that the Japanese-based World Trade Council, National Marine Trade Council of Southeast Asia and the Pacific, and similar bodies recognize as a trade office.

Multiple companies require that authorized bodies certify products to sell.

It is an available market that can be generally translated as "promotable", either to products that Muslims are allowed to use, eat and drink in the observance of Islam.

Using said this would be the first time Philippine firms would be entering the market in the early 15th-century, which includes the market of Abu Dhabi, Abu Dhabi and Sharjah, and Middle East. Also, taking part are Manila Inc., the first certified provider of hotel services in the country, and trading group Philippine Overseas.

"It is very good that local companies are now tapping the UAE market in a more formal way unlike previously where agencies were intermediaries," Unzueta said.

"But it is also fortunate that only a few can take part in this due to the protection of the UAE law," he said. "GIB is providing the benefits of the UAE to the world."

Using said the government can do much more if it had a clearer program for the hotel industry.

"We hope to get support from the trade and agriculture departments as well as the foreign affairs department in terms of our members," he said.

Unzueta said the program is a venue for international buyers and sellers to explore the global range of hotel products, such as food and beverages, cosmetics, fashion, electronics, pharmaceuticals, publications, information technology and financial services.

"In this age, hotel product is widely recognized as a quality and quality assurance," he said.

Credit bureau creation urged

By Michael V. Romo

THE WORLD BANK HAS CONVINCED THE Philippine government to launch a credit information bureau, saying this was necessary to boost the country's micro-finance sector.

Spol Bhagat, country manager of the World Bank's International Finance Corp., said in a press briefing that having a credit information bureau would make financial institutions more confident about lending to businesses, especially small and medium-sized enterprises.

A SB creating a credit information bureau is expected to happen.

Under the bill, banks and other financial institutions will have access to credit information of loan applicants, thereby protecting them from high-risk clients.

Bhagat and IFC is providing technical assistance to help the Senate forward the bill.

Jatropha plantations eyed in geothermal sites

By Abigail L. Ho

PHILIPPINE NATIONAL OILS ALTERNATIVE Park Corp. (PNOC-APC) is looking to plug up its Jatropha plantation project in geothermal sites.

PNOC-APC president Peter Anthony Alarcon said the firm has already brought the idea up to PNOC-EDC.

"We have in mind with PNOC-EDC and we're looking at buying agreements for jatropha plantations in the geothermal area," he said.

PNOC-EDC has a jatropha plantation project in Cebu, Negros Occidental.

Alarcon said, PNOC-EDC is now preparing for central review, but earlier said that for that project, the firm planted three hectares of jatropha in a geothermal area which would yield 100,000 tons of oil.

Once determined, the said that jatropha would be used in PNOC-EDC's new jatropha plant.

He said a minimum of five hectares of land could be produced from one hectare of jatropha.

"But the variety we planted can produce between 10 liters and 15 liters a hectare. In five liters, that should be enough, but we're looking at the variety that can yield the most oil," he said.

PNOC-EDC president Rod Aguirre said in an earlier interview that jatropha within the state's geothermal sites could also advantage of PNOC-EDC's jatropha plantation project.

The company's report, he said, could be used in PNOC-APC.

The jatropha plant can be used as a raw material for bio-fuel. It can thrive in all kinds of soil conditions. It will not be that difficult for farmers within PNOC-EDC's geothermal area to grow the plant.

PNOC president and chief executive officer Alarcon said earlier that PNOC-EDC was looking to set up a bio-fuel refinery using jatropha as feedstock.

PNOC-APC had also recently signed a memorandum of understanding with Aguirre's International Corp. for an P2.2-billion jatropha project involving a 120,000-hectare jatropha plantation worth P6 billion and a 200,000-hectare bio-fuel refinery worth P2.2 billion.

Understanding supply chain management principles

By Engrasmo/Executive Coordinator

OVER THE PAST DECADE, we have seen in the Philippines the convergence of what were once fragmented disciplines resulting in back-office departments of many enterprises, to what is today a form of management discipline in itself...often called "supply chain."

Supply chain is "logistics management."

The conventional interest in this field is driven not just by the strong influence of multinational companies, but by the universal realization that an appropriate distribution and logistics strategy is a competitive advantage.

In a large sense, we think in industry are learning from costly experiences. Most supply chain practitioners will recall past incidents where they have had to write off inventory that did not move due to poor forecasting, or lost sales opportunities due to an inability to fully serve customer orders.

There is the occasional "stock delivery" from Manila to Mindanao just as we meet head-on commitments. The cost is compounded when we end up misallocating inventory across geographically broad to remote areas of the islands to our main distribution center in CMA.

These are experiences familiar to many of us in the industry. The double jeopardy of high logistics costs and unsatisfied customers is the ultimate penalty.

The field of supply chain management is about managing complexity. We are able to discriminate between manufacturing and inventory management departments, where the latter will argue for larger production facilities and the former explains the consequences of excess inventory. Supply chain is also about matching supply and demand.

We often connect operations to specific production and inventory levels months before demand is realized. Advanced commitments imply large financial risks.

This discipline is about managing a moving target. The more accurate, volume demand across a single month and every significant loss of time performance is important.

WHAT 8.1

SAFETY chain is about matching supply and demand.

Consumers becoming 'squeaky' clean

According to a recent WCN study, however, people are more conscious of their surroundings now.

The survey, titled "What's Hot around the Globe: Bright Outlook for Household Products," said household products sales around the world grew 4 percent in 2009.

Of the products surveyed, the situation involving paid and non-discounted newspapers

While we may differ geographically, there is no question that a healthy, vigorous home is a high priority for all of us. I'd like to extend a personal invitation to

"Around the world, consumers are looking to improve sustainability. But they not only seek the food they can live with, the products they use in their homes."

The study released last July measured the sales of household products, including laundry and dish detergents, cleaning implements such as brooms, mops and brushes, and even plastic bags, among other products. It surveyed 56 markets that account for more than 90 percent of the world's gross domestic product and over 75 percent of the global population.

Health consequences

The study noted several reasons for the growth of household product usage. Consumer life habits and wellness focus, global sales, A/Dickson said. The

To answer that question let's turn to the International of Marketing—Nath Rogers, marketing director and New York Times best-selling author of The Popcorn Report and 1000 Ways to Market Your Business, founded a New York-based marketing consultancy firm in 1974 that has a staff of 50 brand-marketing professionals who focus on cultivating trends in consumer behavior. 3. Sanitary Adventure Travel. Just as the best love triumphs has turned its conquerors into average velocity, running along middle adventure will become a speculative sport. Our Sanitary Adventure Travel believes that people will become obsessed with the success or failure of their 20th-century running triumphs, this is a good and bad development. Healthy relevance will challenge participants' best before and after, and suggestions will grow into reality on who will be the next person selected. The medical hospital will compare its Americanized medicine to success, that they are the most deserving. It is not the only one that is.

5. Old Age is "It." Today's baby boomers define "old age" as starting at 80—about 10 years after the average person is dead. Ironically, boomers' own self-perceptions "old" at all. Thanks to victory and tenure will become ironic, immortality to boomers. Boomers will demand recognition of their special needs but not to be treated like "Special people," language, typically ironic but now on-road boomers' growing luxury cars like the Lincoln and BMW. Boomers will get a make-over: "The generation that chooses will succeed in business is to be seen as it is, it is not because 'going-over' pattern: mostly a fading legacy."

4. Family facts that look and are the you. Today, we treat our pet the same way that we do. So, our animal lovers and their furry companions will grow even closer, biologically. In the year of genetic modification phenomena, engineering services will be able to create pet-beans, carrots and pepper your house companion's DNA with your own. The result will be a unique representation of you: it gets that look and acts like you. These animals will be such an accurate reflection of you.

CONTORTED LIMES, defaced marionette heads and coarsely disassembled figures juxtaposed with overtly beautiful shiny objects—several images that calibrate the sensibilities to mix things of great beauty and value from a colossal heap of the hideous.

While looking carefully through your hole, my wonderer isn't exactly an expert on a Native Indian panning, gold digging (under the pretense, at least for the opposite kind, will be there as passing, he has joined elements in the world).

The fall runways are suggesting fallow, head-to-toe-glitter, but even so this is the lastest route to adapting the novel, this isn't actually very modern in the first instance. Nope, you have to look beyond the exterior down to some in on this one.

The robes, trousers and gowns are almost identical like brocade can compare to the pure texture of birth honey that is impossible to match of some form. Gold suits is another life option. A wider choice for the designer, they would be to pick clothes are personally made of quality materials like silk, wool, cotton and wool, but in golden robes. There is nothing more than the material, clean and simple, to the rich honey and brown shades, can maintain the most complete and personality this trend.

Shrinkers can also be had in another form that come from technology or other sources: the chain and barometer, or from other forms of steel like rebar and palladium. The object is to achieve some degree of outrageousness into your building look, so you can opt to work a few shiny key pieces into your windows—powdered, say, metallic barometer or look, hold building form or the real thing.

That's the trend...glitters: it's not just brass gold. It's something to glow, gemstone in copper shades. What if, what what if they said—was all that glitters a gold? Or something like that. You get the drift.

YVES Saint Laurent
CHANEL

Patent (im)pending

By Donna Cota-Phin, Cover Story
Fashion trends that mean a lot

SHENY SUMMERBORN and her friends have decided to reveal an exclusive piece of a natural, essential element of the 90s trend. At once innocent (read: school girl shoes) and slutty (read: double-buckle sandals), patent leather takes a bit more change to wear once you've graduated from your white-collared white blouse and plaid skirt.

First, applied to a shoe design (think the heels of '90s pump shoes and loafers), the leather (read: patent leather) is then polished to a high shine, giving an interesting look to otherwise plain and simple shoes. A traditional design with a twist, patent leather shoes are a pair of shoes that are both stylish and practical. The shiny black also makes it perfect for evening wear, such as the Halloween dance, costume parties and "The Masker" movie.

As with any other shiny material, this should be applied to small shoes, where you have a natural hair for covering the shoe's surface. Enjoy it in black, black and shiny red, or even in white and shiny colors.

Patent leather shoes, such as the one shown in the photo, are a great way to keep your shoes looking new and separate them from other shoes. To maintain their shine and eye-catching appearance.

'Maxi' is RP bet in 2007 Oscars

By Raynor Lee Dingo Jr.

IT'S FINAL AND OFFICIAL.

The Film Academy of the Philippines (FAP) has chosen an indie movie, Ma Maxine, as the Philippine entry to the Best Foreign Language Film category of the 79th Oscar Awards set in February 2007 in Los Angeles.

The movie was confirmed by FAP secretary-general Leo Martinez and featured actor for Ma Maxine, Dennis Nolasco.

Nolasco's 1998 film Ma Maxine (also known as Ma Maxine) was the country's first entry to the Oscars.

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences (AMPAS), which holds out the Oscars, used to work with Nolasco on the annual selection. He has since retired over the responsibility to the FAP.

Double time

Nolasco and Martinez said a screening committee was formed to make an RP entry last year. The film made under five for being indie.

Nolasco, a member of the FAP Board of Governors, told Inquirer Entertainment that the committee had worked double time to make the film eligible for entry.

The committee, chaired by Nolasco, consisted of FAP members Pablo S. Gomez, Jose N. Carmona, Johnny Delgado, William Mapa and George Ederling Jr.

Nolasco confirmed that Ma Maxine had come up against another indie digital film, Ma Maxine "Indivision".

"Perhaps what sealed the difference for Ma Maxine was that it's a loving, funny story, and has more of a heart about it," said Nolasco.

According to its picture producer, featured actor, Ma Maxine has won 12 international awards and gained 36 international film festival awards. Locally, it has won 12 awards, including top prizes in the critics' choice and movie press' best awards.

Its English international credits are from film fairs held in Montreal, Singapore and Cebu. It received the Best Cinematography Award trophy at the Berlin International Film Festival, having Oscar-nominee "Taps" and "Doubt" in film. It also topped the festival's Ma Maxine.

Sundance cognate

Nolasco's Ma Maxine earned the distinction of being the first homegrown feature to compete in the World Cinema section of the 2006 Sundance Film Festival and was the opening film in the 55th New Orleans Film Festival presented by the Museum of Modern Art and Lincoln Center in New York.

"Ma Maxine" has won awards in the Moscow and Dubai Cinema Festival. It has been shown in 17 film fairs—the best of which is in Venice, where another indie film, Ma Maxine "Indivision" was also participating.

All the movies will be screened in US last year, a record 10 countries compared to only five back in the first Foreign Language Film category that was eventually won by "Ma Maxine".

From South Africa.

The Philippines has never made it to the top five.

John Davis, president of United Nations, the US distributor of Ma Maxine, noted that his company would pull out all the stops to ensure the film's success in the Oscar race.
